

Options to overcome lack of transportation

Reduce frequency of filling the prescriptions

Your insurance benefit may have coverage for a 90-day supply of medication.
You may ask your physician write your maintenance prescription for a 90-day supply.
Not all medications will qualify for a 90-day supply.
You may also see cost savings by receiving medications of 90-day supply at a time.

Receive medication via mail

Mail order services work by having your insurance company approve the service and then your prescription medications are sent to your home. No need to travel to a local pharmacy!

Many local pharmacies have mail-order service. They provide free shipping. Check with your local pharmacy.

More benefits of mail-order service:

- ✓ Potential savings on co-pays, receiving a 90-day supply on approved medications
- ✓ Track your medications, update and manage insurance, and refill your prescriptions from the comfort of your home.
